HE WAS SENT TO JAIL

A Detective Arrests a Brother Officer on an Ugly Charge.

SOME DOUBT OF THE MAN'S GUILT

The Supposed Victim Refuses to Prosecute the Defendant—What Was Done in the Justice Courts Yesterday.

Samuel Post, who claims to be a Chicago detective, was brought before Judge Landrum yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with larceny from the house of G. K. Woodward, who conducts a jobbing jewelry business in a room in the Gould building. Soon after Post went to work for Woodward, the latter's store was burglarized. A large amount of jewelry was taken, among other things a number of spoons.

A few days ago Post sold some spoons to a Deatur street pawnbroker. Detective Joe Green learned of this and arrested Post, who told him that he was here from Chicago working on an important case. At the time of his arrest Post was working for a clothing store on Whitehall street, having left the employ of Woodward.

The case came up before Judge Landrum yesterday afternoon. Post waived a preliminary hearing and was sent to jail in default of a one-hundred-dollar bond. Mr. Woodward was seen by a reporter, but refused to talk about the case, saying that there was no money in talking for him. At the courtroom it seemed as if for some reason he was very anxious to have Post released.

Post claims that Woodward owes him more than $50, commissions on jewelry sold, and that he could not get the money he sold some spoons and kept the money. He claims, however, that Woodward knew he was going to keep the money. He said that he had worked for Woodward more than two weeks, while Woodward stated that Post had worked for him one day.

The case in all its aspects is rather a peculiar one and its outcome will be watched with interest. The detective proposed to push the case and to secure Post's conviction, if possible.

A Burglary Case. Will O'Neil, a negro, was tried before Judge Landrum yesterday afternoon on two warrants charging him with burglary. He was arrested by Detective Bedford, after some clever work on the part of the detective. Two houses in the same neighborhood were burglarized on Monday night. The houses robbed were those of Paul Alexander and Nathan Bowen.

Detective Bedford arrested O'Neil and recovered the stolen goods. Judge Landrum bound him over and fixed his bond at $250 in each case. The negro failed to give the bond and was sent to jail. He claims that the burglary was committed by another negro named John Davis, alias John Foster.

A Young Thief. Mr. J. P. Mathis, a farmer, came to town to see the circus on Monday and furnished considerable excitement on Broad street in the afternoon just before dark.

He left his wagon standing on the corner of Broad and Walton streets and stepped a few feet away to speak to a man. Suddenly he saw two little negro boys grab his coat and some sacks off of his wagon and run down the street. Mathis immediately started in pursuit of the one who had his coat.

The boy, seeing he was followed, dropped the coat and ran for dear life. Mr. Mathis followed and finally, after quite a chase, caught him and held him until a policeman came along. The other boy had secured the farmer's daybook, however, and he was unable to recover it.

The boy who was caught by Mr. Mathis gave his name as Will Avery. He was bound over by Judge Landrum and went to jail in default of a $100 bond.

IN SPECIAL SESSION. The General Council will consider the Pryor Street Matter Again.

There was a called session of the general council yesterday afternoon.

The call for the session was issued by Mayor Pro Tem. Broyles during the morning and was caused by that Pryor street grade.

The new grade given the street will render it necessary for the Telephone Company to sink the conduits in Pryor street, and this the company refused to do. When the conduits were placed in the street the grade of Pryor street was what it had been for years and was of course, presumed to be a permanent grade. After the conduits were in the people along the street secured a change of grade and when the street was dug down to the new grade it brought the conduits to close to the surface.

Mr. Gentry, acting for the company, refused to sink the conduits, because he had placed them at the proper distance from the surface when they were put in. The people along the street had secured the passage of an ordinance changing the grade and workmen were put at the work. Two or three times the matter has been before the council and yesterday the body considered it again. The matter was finally disposed of by the adoption of a resolution introduced by Mr. Colvin requiring the Telephone Company to sink the conduits the proper depth under the new grade and paying them $800 for the work.

The proposition was apparently acceptable to Mr. Gentry and the work on the street will now go on again.

WILL RETURN IN OCTOBER. Dr. J. Harvey Moore, the celebrated Oculist, on His Way from Europe.

Dr. J. Harvey Moore, the noted oculist, will return from Europe some time in October, and reopen his office in the Kiser building. He located here less than a year ago yet he has made a reputation that is gratifying to his friends and quite satisfactory to himself. His friends will be glad to know of his return.

Fish and Oysters. By way of introduction I beg to announce that I have opened a first-class "up-to-date" fish and oyster market, at No. 149 Peachtree street, opposite Bratton's drug store. I understand the business and I know the wants of the people, and promise my best endeavors to please all who may favor me with their patronage. I will keep a good variety of everything in the line of oysters, fish, game, celery, etc., in season. Everything sold at the public price, and the freshest and best equipped market in Atlanta. The ladies are especially invited to call and see the new market. E. F. Donohoe, Telephone 1022.

The March of Advanced Science Throughout the World.

AND ITS VALUE TO US.

A Declaration Made by the Great Doctor Fothergill for the Benefit of the People of the World Has Aroused Much Attention.

London, Eng., September 17.—The following statement, made by the late Dr. J. Milner Fothergill, the eminent scientist who was physician for the London hospital for diseases of the chest, has made quite a sensation. After denouncing oils and similar substances when used as food, he said: "Fatty, oily foods cannot be taken by those whose stomachs are weak or whose digestive organs are out of order. What food should such people have? I say they need food, which acts as a strengthener and sustainer, as fuel to feed the lamp of life, and that is starch food. A soluble starch food which will be readily assimilated by the digestive organs is the food for people whose digestive organs are weak. It was only natural that such a statement, coming from so high an authority, should have made a profound impression among the leading physicians and scientists of Europe, and it brings into special prominence the recent discovery of predigested starch food known to doctors, to scientists and the world as Paskola. Comparatively few people outside the highest medical circles know of this wonderful discovery, but it is known to possess the qualities of flesh-forming, strength-imparting, life-giving power which has never been known before in the history of the world.

Tests have been made upon patients in a weak, pale, run-down condition, accompanied with indigestion and general loss of energy, and the results are truly remarkable. It really looks as though this newly discovered food, Paskola, will take its rank as the most efficient flesh-producer and cure for dyspepsia of the nineteenth century. It is certainly a refreshing cod liver oil and the fatty preparations which have been used so extensively, and this but confirms the wisdom of the judgment of those who predicted for it unequalled success.

In the treatment of disease, as in all else, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." The Hiv. At the New York Center, N. Y., is but one of thousands who have been benefited by this ingenious and valuable preparation. It is written, under date of April 14, 1894, as follows: "I can truly say it is a pleasure to give this world a new food, and a new strengthener, for it has certainly accomplished wonders for myself and wife. We have taken $4.50 worth, and the results are truly remarkable. I am a physician, and it has done for us what no doctor's prescription or patent medicine has ever done for us. Twenty-five years I suffered untold miseries through a disordered stomach. For years I have had to eat, after quite a chase, caught him and held him until a policeman came along. The other boy had secured the farmer's daybook, however, and he was unable to recover it.

The boy who was caught by Mr. Mathis gave his name as Will Avery. He was bound over by Judge Landrum and went to jail in default of a $100 bond.
